PREPARING FOR WAR

Secretary of Navy Says He Does Not Expect War, But Believes in Being Prepared.

EMERGENCY ORDERS ISSUED

Confirmation of the Report That Divers Had Found Absolute Proof That Maine's Big Magazine Was Not Exploded.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Emergency preparations of the most important character have been decided upon and the necessary orders for carrying them out have been issued by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt. The preparations include:

First—Orders to American vessels in different parts of the world looking to their better strategic disposition.

Second—The shipping of guns and mounts for auxiliary cruisers from the Washington foundry to the New York navy yard, where in a few hours they can be placed on board the vessels of the International Navigation company, Columbia Steamship company, Red D Steamship company and the New York & Cuba Mail Steamship company.

Third—The collection of stores and the completion of repairs to the cruisers Minneapolis and Columbia, monitor Miantonomah and ram Katsuhin.

Fourth—The shipment to the works of the Herreshoff, torpedo tubes and appliances and torpedoes for the torpedo boats Talbot and Gwyn, which will shortly undergo their steam trials.

Steps are being taken to put the country in condition to meet the emergency.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, when asked concerning the probability of war and the condition of the navy in case of emergency, replied:

"While we do not expect war, the navy department is simply making every preparation for it."

"The work of the navy is going on as rapidly as we could wish. To get into ideal condition for defense and offense will consume much time and a great deal of patient labor."

Secretary Sherman's Opinion.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Secretary Sherman said today that, should the naval cord of inquiry find that the Maine was the result of an accident, an indemnity would certainly be demanded. The secretary did not think that the Spanish authorities had been aware of the intentions of any one who may have caused the explosion, but he advanced the opinion that, whether they were or not, the Spanish government would be liable for indemnity if it was shown that any Spaniard caused the disaster.

Maine's Big Magazine Not Exploded.

New York, Feb. 26.—A special copy-righted cablegram to the Evening World from Sylvester Seovel at Havana says: "The divers, working forward yesterday, found absolute proof that the forward big magazine, which could have so damaged the ship, is surely unexploded. Many divers have sworn to that before the investigating board. It is believed by experts that a big torpedo or mine, aided by the 500 pounds of saluting powder in the reserve magazine, might have produced the actual results found in the wreck."

Insincere Spanish Talk.

Madrid, Feb. 26.—The cabinet has considered the situation and no incident was reported as altering "the cordiality of the relations between Spain and the United States," though the ministers expressed "regret at the passion which had crept into public opinion during the present incident."

One million pesetas were voted to develop the navy.

A decree has been issued dissolving the Cortes.

Representatives of Spain.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The representations of the Spanish government to the effect that there were no mines or torpedoes in the Havana harbor, exactly agree with the result of inquiries made by the agents of our government. So far they have been unable to find the slightest evidence of the existence of any plan of defense in the harbor, either by means of mines or torpedoes, much less have they been able to locate them as has been reported from some quarters. Officials say that the effect of this statement is almost certain to negative the supposition that the disaster was caused from other than accidental causes, as almost the unanimous testimony of the experts here, based on the history of torpedo work, is that no single torpedo of any known type could have caused so terrible a wreck as the Maine.

Senator Proctor in Havana.

Havana, Feb. 26.—Senator Proctor arrived today from Florida, via Key West. He says his coming has no significance in connection with political matters. The senator is accompanied by M. M. Parker, a real estate man of Washington, and it is given out that they are engaged in a business venture.

A number of newspaper men will return to Key West today in anticipation of a transfer of the United States court of inquiry into the loss of the Maine to that place. The arrivals here are not many and the departures about up to the average.

Victims of Maine Disaster.

Key West, Fla., Feb. 26.—The United States coast survey steamer Bache arrived here this morning from Havana. She had on board four of the Maine's wounded; two were well enough to walk. Regarding the movements of the fleet, Admiral Sigsbee said:

"The boats at Tortugas are doing some target practice, but the elaborate plan of maneuvers, which I had laid out, has been postponed, pending developments. I brought the New York here because I wished to be in close communication with the navy department."

A prominent naval officer said that the court would almost certainly return to Havana after the session here.

Cruiser Detroit at Key West.

Key West, Fla., Feb. 26.—The United States cruiser Detroit has arrived here from Mobile.

NATIONAL CAPITAL BUDGET.

House Still Engaged Upon the Sundry Civil Bill—Session of the Senate—Promotion in the Navy.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The house resumed the consideration of the sundry civil bill immediately after the reading of the journal, the pending amendment being that of Mr. Tongue (Rep. Ore.) to appropriate $150,000 for the Yaquina bay, Ore.

Mr. Dockery (Mo.) vigorously opposed the amendment, which he said would make the government liable for the expenditure of over $1,000,000 on a project that was an engineering impossibility.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 36 to 76.

The amendment appropriating $300,000 for the harbor of Cleveland, O., offered by Mr. Burton (Rep. Ohio) was adopted.

Representative Leads, (Wash.) offered an amendment to the sundry civil bill certain resolution condemning Minister Woodford for giving a banquet to the Spanish cabinet. He declared that he was opposed to feasting the murderers of those whom the nation was burying.

The amendment was ruled out on a point of order.

Session of the Senate Today.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Senator Hansbrough (N. D.) secured the adoption of a resolution calling upon the secretary of the navy for the reason why he shipped certain freight over the Canadian Pacific to Mare Island, Calif.

Mr. Kyle (S. D.) addressed the senate in support of Mr. Corbett's claim to a seat.

Mr. Thurston (Neb.) regretted that his views of the case would force him to vote against the admission of Mr. Corbett.

Will be Made a Commodore.

Washington, Feb. 26.—After being pressed physically and for promotion by the naval board, too sound to be retired by another, and physically qualified for promotion by a third, Captain Henry B. Robeson, commandant of the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard, has at last been recommended to the president for promotion and will succeed to the vacancy in the grade of commodore to be created by the retirement of Admiral Selridge.

Attempted Assassination.

A Cuban Lieutenant, Soliciting Aid for the Insurgent Cause, Narrowly Escaped Death at Prescott.

Prescott, A. T., Feb. 26.—Lieutenant Cordier, of the Cuban army, who is here with Captain Mahoney for the purpose of raising funds to aid the insurgent cause, narrowly escaped death at the hands of an assassin last night. An unknown man took a shot at the lieutenant and then fled. Lieutenant Cordier fired two shots at the retreating figure but failed to stop him. The lieutenant says a similar attempt was made on the life of Captain Mahoney a few months ago in Montana.

Attempt to Assassinate King George.

Athens, Feb. 26.—An unsuccessful attempt was made today to assassinate King George, of Greece.

Seven Persons Burned.

Charlotte, S. C., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Knickmeyer, with six other people, perished in a tenement house fire here last night. She is the wife of Theodore Knickmeyer, a carpenter, also called in the fire department. The others burned are all Knickmeyers' children except two, his brother-in-law's.

No News From La Champaigne.

New York, Feb. 26.—Up to 10 o'clock today no additional news has been received of the overdue French liner La Champaigne.

Fire in Iowa.

Forest City, Ia., Feb. 26.—A fire broke out in the business portion of Buffalo Centre, a town of about 800 inhabitants, last night, destroying six of the best buildings, and for a while thereafter threatened the entire town. Loss, $50,000.

Services Tendered.

Middlesboro, Ky., Feb. 26.—A card in the local newspaper, asking ex-confederates, to form a regiment to serve in case of war with Spain, brought up more than enough responses to fill the ranks, from south Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky. The originator of the idea now contemplates the formation of a division to be commanded by Fitz Hugh Lee.

GOLD IN SUGAR BEETS

Captain Day Back from California Whither He Went to Investigate Sugar Beet Industry.

MAKES A GLOWING REPORT

Osgent Reasons Advanced Why the Industry Should Be Introduced Through-out New Mexico—Special Advantages of Santa Fe.

Captain S. H. Day, the enterprising and energetic superintendent of the Santa Fe Water & Improvement company, and an active member of the Santa Fe board of trade, returned home yesterday from an extended trip through California, whither he went as the duly accredited representative of the local board of trade to carefully investigate the beet sugar industry in the great state named, with a view to the general introduction of the same important industry, not only in the region directly tributary to this city, but throughout New Mexico.

Of course a NEW MEXICAN scribe promptly called upon the genial gentleman, and, in spite of the fact that he was immersed in disposing of accumulated business, he talked freely and lucidly concerning the results of his trip, remarking in general terms that his mission had been unexpectedly fruitful in the way of gaining useful information, shedding light on the beet sugar industry, and that he returned more than ever persuaded that the development of the industry is destined to become a most substantial and important factor in promoting the future prosperity of New Mexico.

"While away from the rounds of all the places in California where the beet sugar industry has attained prominence," said Captain Day, "visiting San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chico, Los Alamitos, Salinas, Ventura, and San Diego, and I confess that I was amazed at the evidence I witnessed of the great growth of the beet sugar industry in California during the past few years. I found that everyone engaged in this business on the coast, from the farmer to the factory, was prospering in an uncommon degree, and all seemed satisfied that the culture of sugar beets and sugar manufacture of the product into sugar, were likely to prove a source of as much wealth to the state as its world-renowned gold mines. Indeed, some sanguine ones placed the beet sugar industry ahead of gold mining in wealth producing possibilities."

"I had the pleasure of meeting Claus Spreckles, the famous sugar king, at San Francisco; the Oxandars, at Chico, and Mr. Clark, at Los Alamitos. These gentlemen are at present the principal promoters of the sugar industry in California. They treated me with much courtesy and cheerfully placed me in possession of such information as I sought. I learned that Mr. Spreckles, in addition to his other large factories in the state, is putting up at Salinas the largest sugar manufacturing plant in the world, depending exclusively upon sugar beets for his raw material. I also found that all the other sugar factories of sugar from beets in the state were arranging to multiply the capacity of their plants as fast as possible and that several new and extensive plants were projected," continued Captain Day.

"As I have already hinted, I am now more than ever convinced of the wisdom and practicability of the immediate introduction of the beet sugar industry in the land of sunshine known to the world as New Mexico," added the thoughtful and well informed gentleman. "The soil and climatic conditions here are unquestionably more favorable to the production of high grade sugar beets than those of California. We can raise more and higher grade sugar beets to the acre than they can in California. This is clearly proved by the experimentally demonstrated facts that the average yield of sugar beets per acre in New Mexico is 12½ tons, while the yield per acre in California is reported at ten tons; that the average percentage of saccharine matter in the beets produced in New Mexico is 18, while the sugar beets grown in California only average 14½ per cent in saccharine matter."

"Such facts speak louder than any words I could command in favor of this territory as a sugar producing region. I am more than persuaded," continued the captain. "that New Mexico is ideally adapted to the culture and manufacture of sugar beets. I believe that enough beets can be produced in this territory to support at least 12 sugar factories, and, in addition to the other considerations I have presented, the fact that we have plenty of cheap labor would assure profitable returns from an investment in Santa Fe is peculiarly well situated for one of these factories. We are so located that we would command the crops of two seasons, one from the valleys south and the other from this valley and the Espanola and other valleys to the north of us. Then we have two railroads, connecting us directly with the north and the south, and a plentiful supply of pure, soft water. We should exert our utmost endeavors to induce capital to utilize these splendid and exceptional opportunities as soon as possible."

Hon. Frank A. Manzanares is president of the company.

OMAHA EXPOSITION COMMISSIONERS.

Nearly a Full Meeting of the New Mexico Board Was Held in This City Today.

The members of the New Mexico board of commissioners of the Transmississippi exposition, to be held in Omaha during the coming summer, met this forenoon pursuant to call at the office of the Santa Fe Water company. There were present: Ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince, chairman of the commission; T. J. Curran, of Albuquerque, secretary of the commission. Members: Messrs. W. H. H. Lowellyn, Dona Ana county; W. S. Hopewell, Sierra county; J. T. McLaughlin and S. H. Day, Santa Fe county, and John Morrow, Colfax county, seven out of the nine members.

There were also in attendance Mr. W. T. Cliver, representing the land department of the Santa Fe railway, and Mr. J. Lowmes, of Albuquerque, interested in the question of sugar beet making.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A resolution was unanimously adopted asking that the time for the closing of the voting contest be extended to March 15, at noon. This was accordingly done, and it was determined that the contest be positively closed at that time; that votes and accompanying money be received by Captain S. H. Day, treasurer of the commission, until then, and that the votes be then counted and the result announced. This action was taken in deference to the wishes of the members from distant parts of the territory, who wished more time to do justice to their favorites.

It is understood that one Albuquerque lady has about 100 votes, and three or four more are receiving gratifying support. All votes are now to be sent to Captain Day, who will receive them personally, by mail or by telegraph.

After disposing of a mass routine business, the commission adjourned to meet again in Santa Fe, on Tuesday, March 15.

MIDNIGHT MURDERERS.

Bloody Affair in Highly Civilized South Bend, Ind., Last Night—One Officer and One Bandit Killed.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 26.—Officer Louis Keller, at midnight, noticed the back door of a cigar store unlocked, went in to investigate, and a fusillade followed.

Keller fired rapidly. A moment later rushed a crowd of armed men, leaving Keller dead.

Officer Derrent had just come and one of the men ran directly into his arms. Derrent found the man mortally wounded. He gave the name of Jack Burke, of New York.

Four more of the midnight marksmen were soon captured, viz: Robert Powers, James Burns, Frank O'Connor and Frank Monroe.

Burk in his dying statement said that he fired the shot which killed Keller.
